SANTA CLAUS HALTED CAUGHT IN THE COGS AND SERIOUSLY INJURED BY SMALLPOX SIGN IN THE COUNTY

When Santa Claus started on his trip from Ogden on Christmas Day, he had 150 2-pound buckets of candy and nuts, nearly 100 very pretty dressed dolls, 80 good books for boys and girls, 12 dresses for little girls, besides penknives for boys, dishes for girls, shoes, stockings, mittens, etc.

Away out in the country he found some very sick little girls and, as some of them had small pox, he could not leave all he had for them and when they are well, Santa Claus invited them to send in after the rest of their presents. A good many of the things had to be sent by parcel post but Uncle Sam promised to take good care of the parcels and see to it that they were all delivered to the proper little boys and girls.

Santa says he almost went busted, as some fellows who had promised, did not send him any money, but he said he didn't care, as he had lots of fun.

C. C. Butler, a coal chute foreman at Carter, Wyo., was brought to Ogden on train No. 9 and taken to the Dece hospital, suffering from injuries which included a broken arm, broken leg, a badly cut head and internal injuries. He was unconscious when placed in the ambulance at the depot, but his condition is serious.

BURGLARS ATTEMPT TO BORE THROUGH A DOOR

An attempted burglary was reported this morning to the police department from the Schade Brothers grocery store, in the Fraternity block on Washington avenue. An investigation by Sergeant Mohlman showed that the burglars entered the basement of the store by breaking a window.

They had gone through the basement to the stairway leading to the main store room. The door at the head of the stairway was locked. The thieves bored several holes around the lock, but failed to open it, and they left the same way they entered without taking anything.

MARLER HELD UNDER $1,000 BOND BY CITY JUDGE

Three state cases occupied a portion of the time in the municipal court session this morning. The case of August Badlow, who is charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was set for Monday morning, December 23.

Pedro Orgene, charged with burglary in the third degree, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the district court.

George T. Marler appeared before the judge to answer to a charge of perjury. Marler was the man whose story to the Chief of Police and other officers, led to the arrest of Harry G. Martin, on a charge of burglary.

At the trial of Martin, Marler refuted his statement to the officers, saying that he was drunk at the time and didn't know what he was talking about.

The complaint against Marler, alleging that he was sober at the time he told his story to the police and that his statement to the contrary, while under oath, constituted the crime of perjury. The complaint was filed by County Attorney David Jensen.

After hearing the complaint read this morning, Marler said that he wished to consult Attorney Joseph Chee, before he would be ready for his preliminary trial. Before setting the amount of bail for Marler, Judge Reeder asked the county attorney if he had any recommendation to make.

Mr. Jensen answered in the negative, adding that ordinary bail in felony cases would do. The judge then fixed the bail at $1,000, and set Friday, January 2, as a tentative date for the preliminary hearing.

"We all must feel touched and very grateful to the ladies of this household for their constant efforts to make it pleasant for us, and we must feel keen regret that we have been unable to recompense them even in a small measure for all the benefits we have received here, benefits far in excess of those for which we bargained when we took shelter here."

"Their boundless sympathy and good will toward all lonely ones, ourselves in particular, has impelled them to extend to us a hearty invitation to make their fireside our own, and to assist them in the celebration and enjoyment of this Christmas as one happy family."
